Helping to keep track of events is easily the best feature. The app allows you to add them to your calendar or get auto notifications beforehand. A+Note to evelopers: it would be cool to have Pokedex shown in a grid (like in Pokemon go), where we are able to check off caught Pokemon (ps, the list form is hard to navigate regardless of if a feature is added to track our completion). This likely sounds redundant given PoGo keeps track, but could be useful in various contexts. For instance, as we prep for the Kanto event, many people are saving field researches (completing, but not catching the reward mons so that they save in a stack), so on Feb 20, they can quickly finish collecting about 60 of the original 150 (catching + evolving the reward mons). Would be great to be able to mark Pokemon we have saved for Kanto in our reward stack. BUT this is just a suggestion for an additional feature that you are obviously free to ignore. Regardless of whether you add such a feature, I appreciate u making such a useful app! Thank you °ÂÂxÂÂ I absolutely love this app and highly recommend it! I started using it around a year ago after seeing a post made by one of the creators in a social media group. It's a handy tool for collectors and completionists like myself. The lists are easy to update, searchable, and can be saved right in the app for quick reference. I love that way event dates and times are listed chronologically in one place for a quick high level. With the option to touch the event for further details. It is also excellent for staying updated on bosses raid, egg pools, ditto disguises, search tasks and much more. This app is good when it is necessary to carry out a difficult task, so you do example the return challenges to the past, which has many difficult activities. How to capture a ghost Pokâ © Mon or a Pokâ © on the ground, which in the dry area does not appear at all. I make a lot of 7 km eggs and I have a Sableye. I own one because from the end of the event, I had a shimmering ground. There is also a list for the request for friends and if you are worried that you friends were getting lost, just nickname them a false name. I love this app. You can mark your events, there is a Pokâ © Dex who is good for people who have to keep track of Pokâ © Mon, like all the shiny and the few ideas. It is now updated but I don't care. It is a fantastic for a new journey in the kingdom of Pokâ © Mont. The developer, Sagar Vaghela, indicated that the privacy practices of the app can include data management as described below.
